

STAFF WEEK 2025, October 27-31

Libraries@Bergamo

A center of knowledge since the late 13th century, Sant'Agostino has long been a place where intellectual, artistic, and architectural traditions meet. Today, it houses the Humanities Campus of the University of Bergamo, where ancient monastic cloisters have been reimagined as spaces for research, learning, and cultural exchange.

In this inspiring location, we will reflect together on a central question:

How can library services be promoted as a strategic and cultural asset for the university?
